HOW THEY ENTERED CANAAN

Vol. I -- Named Accounts

ANGELINE WAMSLEY HOLLIDAY (Methodist)

Angeline Wamsley Holliday was born in Adams County, Ohio. Her parents, for three generations before her, were Methodists. In girlhood she became religious. In 1863 she was united in marriage to Rev. James T. Holliday, of the Ohio Conference. She filled the delicate position of step-mother satisfactorily. After entering upon the duties of the wife of a minister of the Lord Jesus Christ she received the blessing of perfect love. After this it was her greatest pleasure to teach others this doctrine and practice. She had been in declining health from consumption for three years previous to her death. She set her house in order in every sense, and then patiently awaited the further accomplishment of God's will.

The Bible and the "Guide to Holiness" were the only books she read for months before her death. In 1874 her home was at Clarksburg, where she received every attention the sympathy of a Christian church could bestow. In return she left them an example of Christian patience and the light that beams from the deathbed of a saint. Toward the last there was nothing so entertaining to her as the songs of Zion, The end came May 14th, 1874, when in the full use of her reasoning powers she most peacefully passed to the land of rest. There is brightness enough in her grave to disclose to us who survive her the distant hills of immortality.
